A-T Solutions' Director of Education Selected for Excellence in Teaching Award

Company's counterterrorism courses help soldiers, law enforcement professionals gain college credit through partnership with American Military University

VIENNA, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--A-T Solutions Inc., a global, industry-leading anti- and counterterrorism professional solutions firm headquartered in the Tysons Corner area of Vienna, Va., announced today that Dr. Bob Dawkins, the company's director of education and standards, has been presented with the American Public University System Excellence in Teaching Award. A-T Solutions has a partnership with American Military University, one of the schools within APUS, to ensure that individuals who participate in the company's counterterrorism training programs are eligible for college course credit.

"I am honored to be recognized for something I am passionate doing," said Dawkins, an associate professor with AMU who has been teaching courses for the online university since completing his service in the military as an explosive ordnance disposal master technician in 2002. "The impact that these programs have on all of the students is incredible, and it's extremely rewarding for me personally to be a part of helping so many war fighters and law enforcement professionals earn their degrees."

American Military University is an online university that educates those who serve with focused programs for national security and safety professionals. A-T Solutions has had a partnership with American Military University since 2002, when the company helped the university develop advanced counterterrorism training courses. Today, A-T Solutions offers 15 programs through which students can earn up to 52 hours of college credit from AMU.

"Our partnership with APUS is a huge asset for the customers we serve with critical anti- and counterterrorism training services," said Dennis Kelly, president and CEO of A-T Solutions. "A-T Solutions training courses help our customers and their employees earn college credits that can be applied toward college degrees and, ultimately, further advance their careers."

Dawkins joined the A-T Solutions team in 2003 and oversees all curriculum development and instructor qualifications for the company in the area of counterterrorism training. He is currently teaching 12 different courses at AMU for both undergraduate and post-graduate degree programs.
